HAI Weizhou

海维舟 · Academic CV · Osaka, Japan

Research interests

Critical International Relations; ontological security; ASEAN centrality; sovereignty and legitimacy; recognition and political dissent.

Education

Osaka University · Osaka School of International Public Policy

Master's candidate · April 2025–March 2027 (expected)

Master's thesis manuscript completed. Research on critical International Relations, ontological security, ASEAN, sovereignty, and legitimacy.

Ritsumeikan University · Graduate School of International Relations

Graduate coursework · September 2024–March 2025

Graduate-level study in critical theory, international relations, and gender studies.

Arizona State University

B.S. in Public Service and Public Policy · 2020–2024

Hainan University

Bachelor of Management in Public Administration · 2020–2024

Writings

From Voice to Systemic Exit: The U.S.-China Semiconductor Conflict and the Chokepoint Paradox of Weaponized Interdependence

Under submission

Institutional Weakness, Persistent Centrality: Ontological Security and the Durability of ASEAN-Centred Regional Order

Completed master's thesis

The Legitimacy That Died Twice: A Postmodern Dissection of Nationhood, Identity, and the Desire to Be Needed

Manuscript

Current research

Acting Without Naming: The Paradox of Non-Interference in ASEAN

Ongoing research

Back to the Future: The Temporal Asymmetry of ASEAN's Self-Image

Ongoing research

Political Order, Dissent, and the Politics of Recognition

Research in development

Teaching & academic communication

English instructor & academic writing support

2020– · Independent

IELTS, GRE, academic English, argumentative writing, and interview preparation.

TOEFL instructor

Human Academy

English instruction for junior-high, high-school, and university students.

Intercollegiate debate coach

2022.07–2023.05 · College debate teams

Argument construction, evidence use, rebuttal, speech organization, and public speaking.

Academic Bar

Short lessons introducing academic concepts, connecting them to everyday questions, and facilitating discussion.

UjiBricks

Chinese-language video essays on anxiety, identity, relationships, human rights, and agency.

Methods, languages & tests

Qualitative desk research; literature synthesis; interpretive discourse analysis; process tracing; analytical writing.

Chinese: native · English: IELTS 7.5 · Japanese: JLPT N2

GRE General Test: 328